DEBATE IS WON BY SCIENCE '17

Close Decision Given in Favor of Juniors.

REFRESHMENTS SERVED

Canada is Not Over Supplied With Railways, is Verdict.

The Lit. held another successful meeting last night in room A of Strathcona Hall, when the third and fourth years in Science met in an interesting debate upon the subject, "Resolved, that Canada is over-supplied with railways."

The speaking of all the representatives was of a high order, and it was with great difficulty that the judges finally came to a decision. The result which they reached showed Science '17, who upheld the negative, to be the winners by the narrow margin of one point. The details of the score are as follows:

	Matter.	Form.	Total
Possible	60	40	100
Science '16	47	34	81
Science '17	50	32	82

Mr. Shean opened the argument for the affirmative by declaring that Canada had four times as many miles of railway per capita as any of the European countries and twice as many as our neighbor to the south. The passenger rates do not begin to pay for the expenses of a railway, which must depend entirely upon the freight charges. If these were high, because of the enormous capitalization, the price of wheat must be correspondingly high. This tends to keep Canadian wheat from the European markets. The difficulty, he said, of getting grain to the ports during the three or four months immediately following the harvest could be met by building elevators in which the wheat could be stored until the opening of navigation.

Mr. Lemay based his chief point upon the fact that, although Canada had enough transcontinentals or arteries, she did not have enough feeders to supply the main routes. For this reason many of Canada's wonderful resources lay undeveloped, and were consequently a loss not only to the country, but also to the railway itself. The object of the railway is to open up development, and for this purpose Canada could not be said to be over-supplied.

Mr. Booth pointed out that much of Canada's railway mileage was unnecessary. In many barren tracts of land three lines were doing the work which one could do if the companies would centralize. As a result of this waste, the earnings of Canadian railways were only 48 per cent. of those of European and American lines.

Mr. Livingstone closed the argument for the negative by reminding his hearers of the C. P. R., which had been built through an undeveloped land at a time when Canada was already apparently over-supplied with railways. The results, so well known to all, surely justified the step then taken by the Government. The present Government also realized the need of railways by giving large grants and subsidies to the C. N. R. Money was being spent in foreign countries by shipping wheat through the Panama Canal. If Canada's railway system was adequate, this money would be spent at home.

Mr. Shean's rebuttal was eloquent and very much to the point.

A discussion followed, during which light refreshments were served and enjoyed by all. Thus the most closely contested and interesting debate of the season was brought to a close.

LT. GREENSHIELDS WAS WOUNDED.

Former McGill Man Served At Outbreak of War With Foreign Legion.

Lieut. Charles G. Greenshields, a former McGill student, who is serving with the 24th Victoria Rifles overseas, has been wounded, and is now in the Duchess of Westminster's Hospital. He is a son of J. N. Greenshields, K.C., Law '76. A brother, Melville, is an officer in the 13th Battalion, and was wounded in the right arm at St. Julien.

Charles G. Greenshields served with the French Foreign Legion at the outbreak of war and took part in nine weeks of constant fighting in the trenches on the Aisne last fall. After returning to Montreal, he secured a commission in the machine gun section of the 24th. Lieut.-Col. Gunn's command. A cable says that his wounds are not serious and are in the right arm.

Lieut. Greenshields is the fifth McGill man in the 24th Battalion to figure in the casualty lists. Capt. R. T. Mackenzie, Sci. '16; Lieut. V. E. Ducloux, Arts '15; Lieut. M. Laing, Arch. '15, and Pte. A. A. McLeod, Arch. '15, have all been wounded.

STUDENTS FOR USHERS.

Hospital Moves

A cable received yesterday by Mrs. H. S. Birkett from Colonel Birkett, Officer Commanding No. 3 (McGill) General Hospital, stating that the Hospital is to be moved to another location, but what its destination is was not mentioned.

UNION MEMBERS TO GIVE SMOKER

Fourth Universities Company Likely to be Entertained.

OTHERS WILL BE HELD

Definite Announcement Will Be Made in To-morrow's Edition.

At the last meeting of the House Committee, it was decided to hold a series of smokers for the members of the Union. It was felt that this action would be appreciated by the members owing to the lack of social functions this session. It was decided that the first smoker should be tendered to the members of the Fourth Universities Company to give the undergraduate body an opportunity of meeting these men. Wednesday, Nov. 24th, was the date decided on, but owing to unforeseen circumstances, it is not known definitely yet if the Fourth Company will be able to attend. Definite announcement of this fact will be made in to-morrow morning's issue.

SOCIAL WORKERS' CLUB.

Held Meeting in Arts Building on Saturday Last.

The Social Workers' Club met on Saturday morning in room 106, Arts Building, the change in room having been made necessary because of the increased membership of the club. Any who are interested in social work are invited to attend the meetings.

In a recent address delivered before the club, the assertion was made that head workers should be included at all meetings of boards instead of being excluded as at present. This question will be debated at the meeting next Saturday morning. At the meeting last Saturday, Mr. Dexter delivered a long address on the work of the C. Q. S. from the theoretical standpoint.

PEOPLE'S FORUM FOR COLLEGE SETTLEMENT

Mr. J. S. Woodworth, in Address, Strongly Urges This Important Change.

At a meeting held Sunday afternoon at the University Settlement, Professor Brown in the chair, a People's Forum was established and a provisional committee appointed to complete details.

The objects and uses of a forum were explained in an address by Mr. J. S. Woodworth, who said, in part: "Canada needs a common meeting ground for its people, and the establishment of forums in other cities shows that this is just what is required. By meeting on common ground no one loses his peculiar preference for anything else, but, on the contrary, becomes better in his religion, his politics, his citizenship, because he has become big enough to get the other man's point of view and come out of his own narrow sphere."

The movement was endorsed by Dr. Boucher, City Health Officer, and Dr. Adams, and the following committee to complete organization was appointed: Prof. Brown, president of the University Settlement, chairman; Dean Adams, Professor Dale, Mr. Fraser, Mrs. Rose Henderson, Mr. Howard Ross, Mr. Zakon, Mr. Levison, Miss Ella Smith, Mr. Boyd, Dr. Atherton, Mr. Pitt, Mr. Vrooman, Mr. Figg, Mr. Moody, Miss Hall, and Mr. Frank Cunningham.

Officers to serve till January 1 were elected as follows: President, Prof. Brown; vice-president, Dr. Boucher; sec.-treas., Mr. Fraser; chairman of publicity committee, Mr. Moody; musical, Miss Hall; house, Mr. Frank Cunningham; programme, Prof. Dale. Meetings will be announced later.

Do Something!

To dispel apparent misunderstandings which have arisen regarding the stand taken by the Daily on the question of training in the C. O. T. C., a statement of explanation seems necessary, for those who have misinterpreted the attitude of this paper.

It seems inconceivable that any person in his right mind should have questioned the sincerity of the Daily's opinions in regard to the students' duty in such a time as this. It can only be attributed to parallel and not convergent conceptions. All know and realize in what a critical condition the Empire is at present. The real seriousness of the war is being borne upon us as never before, when the roll of honor of graduates, undergraduates and past students is steadily mounting. Each week sees the addition of the name of some McGill man who has met a glorious death in fighting the battles of liberty and civilization. Germany's Nemesis is still lagging. Men, more men, and still more men, is still the cry of the War Office, to meet the accumulated preparation of the enemy. Since 1870 Germany has been deliberately training men and collecting munitions, and now with these, is carrying on her war of aggression, with the avowed intent of smashing Great Britain and descending upon her Dominions. These latter include Canada. Consequently, it is our war.

Indubitably, then, it is the duty of every student physically fit, to devote all his available time and attention towards aiding the Empire at this time of crises. How he can do this, of course, is left to his own discretion. If his constitution allows it, and his domestic circumstances permit it, his clearest duty is to make his way to the nearest recruiting station. If he cannot do that, let him become attached to some military training and gain a knowledge of soldiering which might stand him in good stead in the event of conscription, and which certainly he will never regret.

In reality, it matters not at all which unit he joins for this preparation. C. O. T. C., Artillery, Engineers, and other branches, all are equally good. The student who joins any one of these units is serving his country in the manner most attractive to himself. The C. O. T. C. offers courses in infantry training for officers and non-commissioned officers which admittedly cannot be surpassed in Canada. Science students, however, may find courses in engineering and artillery more congenial, medicos the Army Medical Corps, and shell making for those who are not physically perfect for overseas service. But one thing may be said; the C. O. T. C. is primarily for McGill students.

In fact, it is the duty of every British subject to do something towards the obtaining of ultimate victory for the Allies, and particularly is this so in the case of university men who are looked upon to set the example to the community at large. Concerted action on the part of each and every British subject is necessary to hasten this war to a victorious conclusion.

Editorial Notes

The decision to hold a smoker for the members of the Fourth Universities Company is a most commendable move on the part of the Union House Committee. All that is needed on the part of the students to make the affair the success which it should be, is a large attendance of undergraduates. So fine a lot of men as are the members of the Fourth Universities Company deserve the very best send-off which it is in our power to give them. Here's to them!

Another branch of the activities of the Boxing, Wrestling and Fencing Club started serious work yesterday. For the first practice of the season, the wrestlers showed an enthusiasm which augurs well for their future success. The fencers have already held several practices, and it remains only for the boxers to show that they are willing to uphold their part of one of the most healthy athletic organizations in the university.

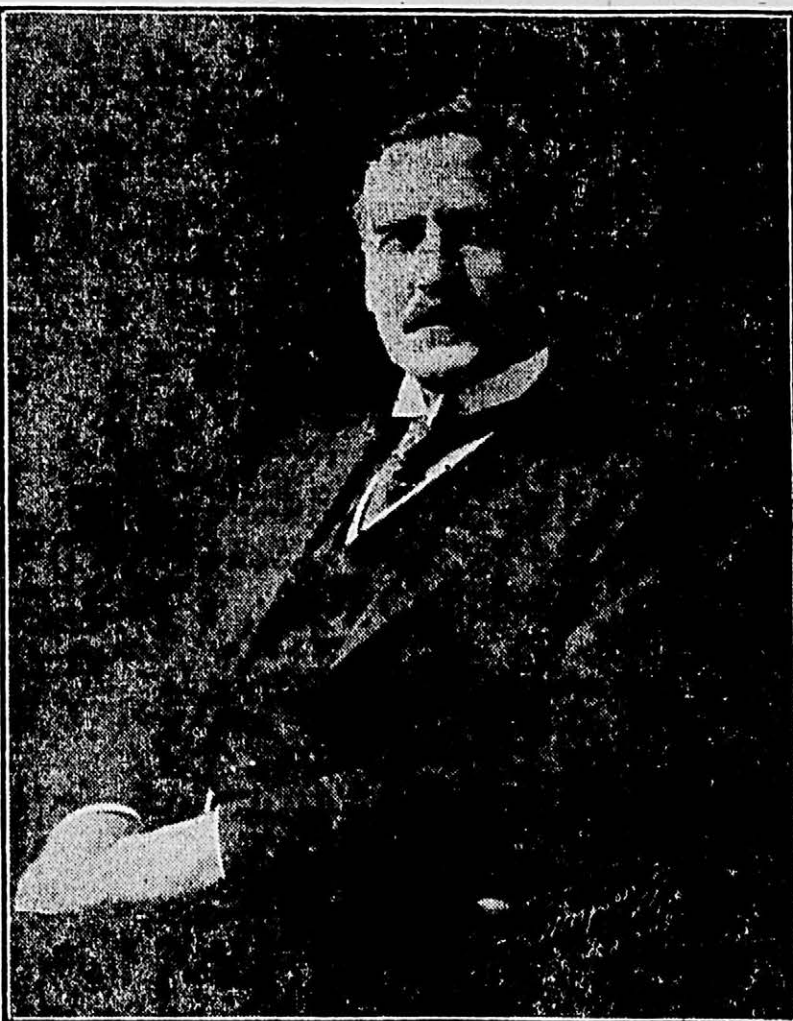

One reason the "Forum" is flourishing as a Sunday meeting designed to bring the masses under the influences of morals as they are related to present-day politics, economics and history, is because it schedules a "quiz" at the close of the formal talk. Speaker and hearers get at short range. Assertions have to be proved. Arguments have to be justified. The teacher may become the taught. That the mood of revolt against the didactic talk is not confined, but is quite common, is shown by the Harvard Crimson's attack on the lecture method of teaching youth. This student journal calls for a more direct, give-and-take, reciprocal method, permitting of general discussion between teacher and the class and between individuals in the class. It denies the efficiency of the lecture for the purpose to which it is supposedly dedicated. It is autocratic, not democratic and co-operative.

Columbia University, New York city, has been advised by a

Honorable W. T. White

MINISTER OF FINANCE

who has been largely instrumental in arranging and finalizing the details of the $50,000,000 War Loan now being floated.

Mr. White makes the following appeal:

"The Canadian war loan is now offered for public subscription. Particulars of the price and terms of the issue, with full information as to the mode of subscribing, are contained in the prospectus, which appears in all the press to-morrow. The Government confidently appeals to the Canadian people to support this loan and thus further demonstrate the strength, unity and solidarity of the Empire and our invincible determination to prosecute the war to a victorious conclusion."

This Week at the Play Houses

HIS MAJESTY'S.

Geo. Driscoll continues to please the public of Montreal, and holds equal popularity in all types of semi-tragedy or real comedy. Last night "The Other Girl," by Augustus Thomas, was rendered in the usual efficient manner. The play has something of a general moral tone. It includes many classes, parsons, prize fighters, lawyers and saloon-keepers, and would seem to indicate that all these may in their several spheres co-operate to their mutual advantage. The play in itself is not a very strong one and owes much of its value to the presentation. In this respect, there is nothing wanting. It is essentially American represents three types of the finished product of American student life in the persons of the parson, the lawyer and the wealthy business man. All these have been through the mill of temptation, through the athletic equipment and by a consistent friendship have pulled one another out of scrapes in college and continue to do so out of college.

Mr. Bloomer, as Dr. Clifford Bradford, the sporting parson, has many admirable qualities, for as he himself states, although a parson he is not any less a man which is admirably proved in his ethical dealings with the members of his sister's family, and also in his physical demonstrations upon James, the butler.

The first scene gives a pugilistic bout which is not so bad, considering the participants. Mr. Sullivan again has a chance as he has had in some other plays of this season of opening out as the typical American sport. He is always good and amusing. Miss Templeton had not the same opportunity last evening of showing to advantage as she had last week in "Inside the Lines." Mr. Webb, as Mr. Fulton, was up to his usual form, and Mr. Young, as Taylor, the typical reporter, was only second to him in the position of popularity. Miss Dore as Ann the cook, played the Irish part admirably.

The play was generally a success, and all who want a pleasant evening would do well to see it. One decided fault in the play is the conclusion. If the curtain had dropped after Shildon and Myrtle Morrison leave the stage it would have been a proper conclusion. What follows in the final proclamation of Bradford's engagement to Estelle Kitteridge is to be naturally expected from what has gone before and leaves the impression of a weak conclusion. The play is generally well balanced, and has enough of the sustained feature to keep up the interest. In some places there is an inclination to drag and as the ultimate turn of events can be seen from the early part of the play this takes away from its progress. Light, but interesting, with enough humor and real life to satisfy, it makes a good evening's entertainment.

special committee on "training for public service" to federate its schools of architecture, engineering and political science in an effort to provide a "city planning" course of study that will surpass anything offered by any other institution of the kind in the United States. Credit for the first step in this line must be given to the University of Illinois; but it is one that all the urban universities and colleges must take sooner or later. Of course, a preliminary step for some institutions will be "planning" of their own growth in campus, buildings and equipment. Some of them have reached their present stage without any reasoned growth or harmony. Before they can teach the cities in which they have their habitats they must set their own houses in order.

ORPHEUM.

If the applause received last night be taken as a criterion of merit the best acts at the Orpheum Theatre this week are Chief Caulpoican, the Indian orator and singer; Frankie Wood and Bunce Wyde, in "Good Night"; Edward Abeles, in "Self Defence"; Borden and Haydn, in song, dance and dialogue.

Chief Caulpoican has a strong, well-trained voice, which he used last night to good advantage. His rendering of "The Palms," in French was well worth the extended applause it received. His native costume made his appearance distinctive, and lent itself admirably to his purpose.

Frankie Wood and Bunce Wyde, in "Good Night" also gained a good deal of attention. Wood's facial expressions supplied much of the amusement though both are fair dancers and were bright in their dialogue.

Edward Abeles, in "Self Defence," is easily the strongest act on the boards. The sketch is intensely dramatic in the first place. It is the reproduction of a murder scene, and the realism of Abeles' acting gave "the thrill" that meant success. When it is remembered that it is a pantomime where the principal says nothing but depends upon his power of dramatic body and facial expression alone the result is all the more commendable.

Haydn, Borden and Haydn won their approbation through their impersonation of an Englishman by Tommy Haydn. Without this, the act would be decidedly mediocre, with it, the result is anything but that. It is the Englishman's attempt to explain a game of baseball that forms the nucleus of a really funny turn.

Marguerite Farrell was well received, but not as well as her talent deserved. She is graceful, sings well and has a stage appearance that is far above the ordinary. Her act is well balanced, and her songs well chosen, and her popularity will grow. Pielert and Scofield were seen in a novelty offering entitled "Helping Hubby." Pielert is a clever trickster, and Miss Scofield aids in her own sweet, loving way.

"The Star Boarder" is another of those skits that represent impossible people, and as a result is itself impossible. The show concludes with a miniature review. The stage within a stage is peopled by wire-controlled figures who sing, dance and perform generally in the manner of stage artists. It is cleverly executed and well rounded out a good, lively evening's entertainment.

Correspondence

The Daily is not responsible for the sentiments of letters published in the correspondence column. Signed communications from graduates, undergraduates and members of the faculty will be placed in print if they are not too great length.

Correspondents are requested to observe the unwritten law of the newspaper office—that they write upon ONE side of the paper ONLY.

No communications will be admitted to this column without the name of the writer being attached FOR PUBLICATION.

To the Editor of The Daily:

Dear Sir,—No doubt I will be accused of pernicious interference again when a certain few 2115 students see that I have obtained permission to defend myself and some other misguided persons who come to a British University . . . and stand between the devil and the deep sea, through the columns of your estimable paper. I cannot seem to understand that stuff about the devil and the deep sea, but I suppose it's all right, emanating as it does from a senior in Arts.

It is not my purpose, Mr. Editor, to bore you with flowery figures of speech, big words or sarcastic phrases, but on the other hand I am not going to mince matters, but will speak plainly and bluntly from the facts. In the first place, I regret very much that this correspondence has been deemed necessary by the critics of Americans in McGill. It is the first intimation I have ever heard that the presence of Americans was obnoxious. It will be the one dark cloud on the horizon of my Canadian college education.

In the next instance, Mr. Editor, I can find no underlying motive for this man Rosevear writing as he does. Is it with the hope of gaining notoriety or of placing himself in a favorable light before the officers of the C. O. T. C.? If it is the former, he has succeeded admirably at the expense of his reputation; if it is the latter, he has been a miserable failure, for I am well enough acquainted with the above officers to know that they recognize merit only in a man and not the ability to hurt the other fellow's feelings, even if he does happen to be an American. Perhaps it was with the idea of squelching Americans once and for all and making them feel that they were not wanted here, and that they should be conspicuous in the background. If so, he has again failed, for I find that he has stirred up a sentiment that serves to cement even to a firmer degree the friendships I have in McGill with true Canadians. Indeed, it was only after considerable urging on the part of some of my Canadian friends that I consented to bother about replying to Mr. Rosevear at all.

Some of his remarks are so absurd that they will have no effect on level-headed, sober-minded Canadians. For instance, in your issue of Nov. 17, he says some Americans think that Canadians ought to turn aside from their serious business of military training to consider them. He calls such things preposterous (that's a good word), so do I. No American in McGill ever said any such thing. Further, he says certain persons actually in the C.O.T.C. have asserted that The Daily should not influence students not interested in military affairs. Well, wasn't that the sentiment of the speakers at the annual meeting of the Students' Society? And, surely Mr. Rosevear has not the audacity to say that all the speakers were Americans! It was the sentiment of that meeting, and is the sentiment to-day, that every student in McGill has the inalienable right to choose his own course in this matter, to follow the dictates of his own conscience and not to be criticized or called a "Jellyfish" if he decides not in favor of the ultra-military few.

This brings me to discuss the statement he makes to the effect that a policy of neutrality was moved by an American on the Daily staff. Pardon my pernicious interference, but I'm the guy. He finished the paragraph with a great long sentence about how I felt regarding putting my countrymen in a false light, and something else about the general policy of a Canadian university. Now, you know how The Daily staff stood at that meeting. Mr. Editor. After there had been some discussion as to the policy The Daily was to adopt, as a result of the sentiment expressed at the Students' Society meeting, every one present was in favor of a policy of neutrality. The president of the staff asked that some one make a motion to that effect, and I, trying to be agreeable, as always, obliged him. The motion was seconded by a Canadian and unanimously carried by the staff of a Canadian college daily paper, composed (with a few exceptions) of Canadian students. Mr. Rosevear certainly flatters my diplomatic or political ability when he insinuates that I could "put anything over" on The Daily staff. You remember, Mr. Editor, that Rosevear was not at that meeting; in fact, he isn't even on The Daily staff, nor did any of his friends who are on the staff and who were at that meeting say anything against this policy of neutrality.

Rosevear says Americans agitated against the 10 per cent. bonus granted to C.O.T.C. men in Science, and calls it pernicious interference; and in the next sentence admits that some Canadian Science men did the same thing. Of what kind of interference were they guilty?

The whole thing is unfortunate, Mr. Editor. It looks to me as if Mr. Rosevear wanted to criticize the staff of The McGill Daily in general and its attitude toward the C.O.T.C. in particular, but didn't want to come out boldly with the courage of his convictions, but rather hide behind the fact that there were one or two Americans on the staff who were influencing it (he certainly is a wonder at grasping at straws), and that by knocking them he would relieve his troubled conscience.

Did the question ever occur to you, Mr. Editor, why it is that those students who are always urging their fellows to be more patriotic and who are so enthusiastic regarding the C.O.T.C., have not long since joined one of the University Overseas Companies and left for active service, or why it is that those who criticize the most severely the efforts of those who are endeavoring to do their best in college activities are always the ones who do the least in work that actually counts? They are the more proficient at picking up small things and agitating a controversy, I grant you, but I am pleased to add they are not typical Canadians.

There is much more to be said in defence of myself and fellow-countrymen in McGill, but time and space will not permit me, and I am well aware that I am only catering to the wishes of a very few by continuing on this unpleasant subject.

Before I finish let me advise the Americans in the McGill C.O.T.C. band—if they are not already aware of it—that, according to Mr. Rosevear, they are guilty of pernicious interference in a student activity in a British institution that cannot possibly apply to them.

Thanking you, sir, for your valuable space,

I remain, yours truly,

QUEEN'S ENGINEERS.

There is no doubt about the ability of Queen's Engineers to do work put up to them. At Valcartier and Barriefield they proved themselves capable of the various tasks given them and they are still being kept on active work by the militia authorities. A party under 2nd Corp. S. Martin is now wiring the armoured at Gananoque in preparation for the men of the 59th Battalion who will shortly be quartered there for the winter, and there is a rumor that other places in the vicinity are in line for equipment by Queen's Engineers.

STUDENTS SERVE IN ARTILLERY

Science Men Are In the Montreal Heavy Brigade.

SECURE CONCESSIONS

Applicants Must Have Taken the Work of the C. O. T. C. In Previous Session.

When college opened this fall, several of the Science students, not content with the opportunities afforded by the C. O. T. C. course, proceeded to try and secure some form of military work which would make more use of what technical knowledge of engineering they might possess. A considerable number decided in favor of the artillery, and joined the Montreal Heavy Brigade of Canadian Artillery, in which Prof. Lamb, of the Science Faculty, is an officer. When the concessions granted to C.O.T.C. men were announced, some of the students in the Heavy Brigade took the matter up with the faculty, who, after consulting the Committee of Cooperation on Military Instruction, decided to extend the same concessions to men in the artillery on certain conditions.

Dean Adams yesterday stated to a representative of The Daily that while each case was being considered separately, the general conditions required are that the applicant shall have taken the C.O.T.C. work in a previous session, and that he shall attend 75 per cent. of the drills called from the beginning of the season. Dr. Adams remarked that while many of the men had enlisted at the commencement of the season, it was still possible by joining at once to meet the faculty's requirements in this respect.

The brigade is well known in military circles, and has an enviable reputation for shooting at Petawawa. The course offered includes the following subjects:

- Foot and rifle drill.
- Gunnery.
- Riding and animal management.
- Use of field instruments.
- Ammunition (construction and use of high explosives).
- Map reading.
- Signalling.

And other subjects of equal interest. Up to date the following, most of them from third-year Science, have joined the Heavy Brigade:

- W. H. Bennett,
- C. W. Boast,
- B. S. Boyd,
- G. F. Carroll,
- H. Crutchfield,
- O. J. Gagnier,
- C. S. Jelly,
- J. C. Kalem,
- S. E. Kay,
- S. J. W. Liddy,
- H. B. Little,
- E. J. Lowe,
- C. L. R. LaPrairie,
- H. G. Macklin,
- W. L. Mackenzie,
- R. C. MacLachlan,
- J. E. Padden,
- G. H. Reichter,
- F. H. Rounthwaite,
- F. W. Scriber,
- C. B. Sears,
- W. R. Way,
- E. P. Wilson.

The following is the text of the letters received by most of the applicants:

Dear Sir—
I have received your letter of . . . and note that you have taken the course of instruction given in the McGill C.O.T.C.

I have much pleasure in stating that, in view of this fact, if this session, you join the Montreal Heavy Brigade of Canadian Artillery, and attend 75 per cent. of all the drills which have been called from the beginning of the season, and if you can at the close of the session submit a certificate from Major Walter E. Lyman to this effect, which certificate must also state that you are "efficient," you will be allowed the bonus of 10 per cent., as well as the exemption which has been granted to students in this faculty taking the course of instruction in the C. O. T. C. this year.

If by joining at this late date it is impossible for you to make good your 75 per cent. of all the drills, the faculty cannot grant you any concessions.

With best wishes,
Yours very sincerely,
FRANK D. ADAMS.

GERMAN POTASH MONOPOLY.

Calcutta, India — R. D. Anstead, planting expert, announced at a recent conference of the United Planters' Association of Southern India, that the war has "reduced our plantations to the verge of potash starvation." The reason of this, Mr. Anstead proceeded to explain, was that Germany had almost a monopoly of the supply of potash fertilizers, which were obtained from huge deposits at Stassfurt. The board of trade stated that the sales of the German potash syndicate in 1914 amounted to £74,000,000 sterling, and in 1913 to £96,000,000. Few other deposits of potash existed, though recently deposits of potassium carbonate had been discovered in Spain, near Cordoba. Whether, when the war was over, they would be in a position of independence of Germany for their potash remained to be seen. But it was to be hoped that the Stassfurt mines would be set free as part of the indemnity she would have to pay, so that there could be no question again of a German monopoly. In the meantime, Mr. Anstead discussed a number of fertilizers which might be used in place of potash, such as saltpetre, of which there was a considerable quantity in India, green manures and wood ashes.

Removal of Dr. Walter G. Davis, principal of Ridgefield, N.J., high school, is asked, because he has but one eye and has appeared before pupils in his shirt sleeves.

Ottawa University Having Difficulty About Drill Instructor

REVIEW MAY DISCONTINUE

Small Number of English Students Has to do With Abandonment of College Paper.

The Athletic Association at the University of Ottawa has engaged the services of Mr. Emery, the former physical instructor of the Y.M.C.A. Mr. Emery will take hold of the senior boys, and with the various gymnastic fittings at their disposal will shortly have them in perfect condition. This is the first year in the history of the association that so much attention has been paid to the all-round development of the students. In other years the more exciting sports kept the boys too busy for gymnasium work, and the college has been somewhat behind in this training.

The College basketball team is rapidly rounding into shape, and games will be arranged with some of the city teams.

A subject which will prove very interesting at the present time owing to the numerous contrary opinions held on the question, will be debated next Monday evening at the university, the subject being: "Resolved, that the Canadian Government would be justified in forcing compulsory military service without consulting the people." This will be the first debate of the newly-organized society.

Work has been started on the two large college rinks, and the sides of the "big yard" rink have already been placed in position. The university did not send a representative to the Intermediate City League meeting, so it is very improbable that a team will be entered.

Fred. Dennison, who played on the college hockey team of 1911-12, is with one of the overseas contingents.

The university authorities are having great difficulty in getting the cadet corps organized, not, however, on account of the unwillingness of the students, but the slowness of the Militia Department in sending a drill instructor.

Although the Debating Society has been re-organized, it is very improbable that the University Review, which for many years contained essays which ranked with the choicest writings of other university publications, will be published any longer. The Review was supported by the advertisements and the students' contributions, but owing to the very small number of English students, it will be impossible to gather sufficient funds to issue it monthly this year.

A. McGillucuddy, a former student in the commercial course, has returned home from the front. Art was in a pretty serious condition and was wounded several times. He received some of his injuries in the engagements at Ypres and Festubert, and was finally forced to come home.

J. Leacy, last year's vice-president of the Debating Society, is now professor of English in the commercial course.

The University Dramatic Club has started its rehearsals on a new college farce, entitled "Raffles." As the play requires four female characters, a number of new members have joined the club and will participate in this play. The cast includes the following ladies: Mrs. Robert Devine, Miss M. Quinn, Miss K. McDermott and Miss B. O'Neill. These students will take the other parts: J. A. Grace, V. J. O'Neill, F. Harris, J. O'Reilly, G. E. Brennan, L. M. Lally, W. M. Unger and J. Hayden. Mr. T. P. Murphy, who has had considerable experience in theatricals, will direct the play. No date has as yet been set, but it is expected that it will take place shortly after Christmas in St. Patrick's Parish Hall.

WOODRUFF RECOVERING.

Science Man Wounded Is Now In Convalescent Hospital.

Lance-Corporal B. J. Woodruff, Sci. '16, who crossed to France with the 2nd Battalion, C.E.F., and was wounded at the second battle of Ypres, has recovered sufficiently to be discharged from the hospital in England. He is now at a convalescent home, and will probably return to Canada at an early date. A cable says the wound in his shoulder has healed, but that it has left him very stiff. Lance-Corp. Woodruff comes from Ottawa.

HERR SITTING BULL PREFERABLE.

(Brooklyn Eagle.)

Twenty-one German authorities agree that the Lusitania massacre was justified. Their opinions have been put into a book. But the book does not give the name of the commander of the U-boat who is responsible for this glorious deed that wiped out 1,200 lives, the lives of people who trusted to German honor without a suspicion that such honor did not exist. When the 1,200 men of Custer's Seventh Cavalry were wiped out on the Little Big Horn in the summer of 1876, we knew we were dealing with blood-thirsty savages, and therefore sent no notes asking for a disavowal. It is a mitigating circumstance that Herr Professor Sitting Bull and his colleagues, Herr Prof. Rain-in-the-Face, and Herr Professor Iron Horse, between whiffs of killiknick, did not attempt to elaborate for our diversion, the peculiar Kultur of treachery they so ably vindicated.

A MOOT COURT HELD TO-NIGHT

Mr. Justice Greenshields Has Consented to Preside.

EMBRYO LAWYERS ARGUE

Theoretical Case to be Heard and Judgment Will be Rendered.

A "moot court," at which Mr. Justice Greenshields will preside, will be held by the Faculty of Law this evening. The court will consider argument upon a theoretical case in law, and his Lordship will render judgment in the usual way. The following are the details of the case:

"A, the owner of a lot of land bearing the cadastre No. 85, signs the following document, dated June 1, 1915, and on that date delivers same to B: 'I, the undersigned, A, give to B, or any other person assigned by him the option on my property, cadastre No. 85, for the sum of $1,000.00, payable on the passing of the deed of sale. This option to expire on Nov. 1, 1915.'"

On July 15, 1915, before B, has communicated in writing with A, but still having the option in his possession, A, writes B, withdrawing and cancelling said option.

B, answers refusing to acquiesce in such cancellation, and on September 1 declares in writing that he accepts the option, desires to exercise the same, and offers the purchase price to A, and demands a deed to the property.

A, refuses. B, thereupon institutes an action against A, renewing his tender of the purchase price of the property and demands a title.

Harry Budyk (Law '16) and T. J. Kelly (Law '17) for the defence; J. P. Charbonneau (Law '16) and Frank Common (Law '17) for the plaintiff.

WHO ARE THE TURKS?

(London "Chronicle.")

The statement of a Turkish Pasha that all aliens are to be cleared out of his country, and that after the war Turkey will be for the Turks only, prompts the question: Who are the Turks? Of the dozen or so different races, speaking different languages, the real Turks (if the Osmanlis may be so styled) form quite a small part of the population of European Turkey. If the Pasha had his way, it would give rise to an interesting social problem, since in the eyes of the Sultan all Osmanlis are equal. Thus there are no class barriers to prevent an Ottoman Turk of humble birth reaching the Divan, and even marrying into the royal family itself. Pasha and Pasha have the same dignified bearing, and all alike are contemptuous of the subject races they govern—sent apparently by Allah to do the dirty work.

OXFORD HAS LARGE ROLL OF SERVICE

About Thirty American Rhodes Scholars Commence First Year Work at Oxford.

Many Americans at Oxford are wearing American flags or the insignia of the Belgian Relief Commission of the American Red Cross Corps since a correspondent of the Varsity Magazine mistook a group of them for "slackers" and wrote in criticism of Oxford patriotism. The Oxford roll of service includes more than 9,000 names. Of these men from 800 to 900 already have been killed, while virtually complete registration figures show 600 against a normal count of 4,000 undergraduates in residence, these 600 being to a man training for commissions, foreigners or men unfit for military service.

The present year is one in which normally no American Rhodes scholars are elected, but about thirty of them who spent last year doing some form of war work now are beginning their first year of Oxford. A rather unexpected result of the work of these young Americans in Belgium and their role of heroes in Belgian eyes has been the announcement of a number of engagements to Belgian girls.

C. H. Carstairs, of Philadelphia and London, will shortly marry a girl living near Mons. T. B. Kittredge, who is now teaching history in the University of California, will return next summer and marry a girl of the Province of Limburg whom he met when bringing into Limburg the first cargo of American food to reach that part of Belgium.

Regimental scholars now returning to Oxford have been in nearly every theatre of the war, sometimes facing one another from opposite sides of the lines. F. H. Gailor, of Tennessee, and Dorsey Stephens, of California, were in charge of relief work behind the German lines in Northern France only a few miles from where two class mates, Preston Lockwood, of St. Louis, and E. F. Hollman, of California, were driving field ambulances behind the French trenches.

EXPEDITION IN BORNEO.

The Hague, Holland.—The Norwegian professor, Dr. Ljullimboz, who recently arrived in Java, has duly left for Borneo, where he is to command an expedition for the purpose of ascertaining the source of the River Bari. The party will also visit certain parts where no white man has ever before set foot. The costs of the expedition, which it is expected will be away a year, are to be borne by various anthropological and ethnographical societies in Norway and Sweden. The Dutch Indian Government has given the professor every assistance, and has also lent the services of an officer of the local topographical service, who accompanies the expedition, which has further been provided with an escort of a detachment of troops.

WORK-OUT OF WRESTLERS HELD

Light Practice Indulged in For the First Time This Season.

George Smith, Instructor

Some New Men Showed Fair Form and Possibilities Are Bright.

Eight men turned out for the initial practice of the season of the wrestlers. Instructor George Smith, who handled last year's intercollegiate team, was out and put the men through their paces. Work was confined simply to light practice in order to get the men into condition preparatory to more strenuous work. A light workout was first held with Instructor Smith as coach, and this was followed by collar and elbow wrestling to get the men in condition.

Among those out were Trapp, who was on the intercollegiate team two years ago; Rounthwaite, last year's heavyweight representative on the intercollegiate team; Banfield, champion lightweight; McCullough, runner-up in the middleweight class last year; Riddle, a new man, who showed considerable form; Scriber, Macklin and Thompson.

Familiar faces missing from the workout were those of Parsons, Kelly, McDonald, Matthews and Johnston.

The next practice will be held on Friday at 5.15. As soon as the straw and other inconveniences are removed from the room, it will be possible to use two mats at the same time.

Chances for a successful team this year are quite bright, according to George Smith, who thinks they would be enhanced were more of the older men to turn out.

ARMENIAN VOLUNTEER CORPS.

Paris, France — A scheme has been started in Petrograd for the formation of a corps of Armenian volunteers, residing in the Balkans, Egypt, Italy, France, Great Britain, the United States and other countries in America. Captain Torcom, of the Russian army, is the organizer of the scheme. In a manifesto which he has issued he states that the Armenians in every country, though unable to prevent the destruction of their race in Turkey, are eager to join the Allies in their fight against tyranny and absolutism. The allied powers, he adds, will not refuse this right to the Armenians. Captain Torcom hopes to go to London to further the development of his scheme.

GERMAN IRON MARKET.

Stockholm, Sweden — According to a recent issue of the Affarsvarlden, a slackening off of the German iron market has set in, and present consumption does not exceed 65 per cent. of the normal production. In the case of several articles the minimum prices fixed have not been reached, and a conference of proprietors of iron works is to be called in order to arrange for the steadying of prices. The Swedish paper also reported that whereas the price of German coke had only risen from 19 to 19½ marks a ton, that of coal had gone up from 14½ to 16½ marks.

MAY GIVE STUDENTS YEAR.

Members of the Council of the Ontario College of Pharmacy discussed at length what concession in regard to their apprenticeship term should be made to the medical students who are enlisting. The students are supposed to serve four years' apprenticeship. It was stated that the Council would probably allow the students a year or more. Reciprocity in registration of graduates between Ontario and Saskatchewan was also discussed, but the Council did not arrive at a decision.

LEAVES QUEEN'S HOSPITAL.

A cable message has been received from Lt.-Col. W. T. Connell, Queen's Stationary Hospital Corps, who returned from Cairo to England, stating that he is still in London. His resignation apparently has not yet been accepted. Queen's Medical College urged his return, as it requires his services on the staff to prepare final men for their examinations in the spring, so that they can join the overseas hospital corps.

DR. NICHOLAS GOES TO YALE.

Boston, Nov. 23. — The retirement of Dr. Ernest Fox Nichols from the presidency of Dartmouth College at the close of the present college year was announced by the board of trustees Saturday. President Nichols has accepted an invitation to a chair of physics at Yale, thus returning to a field that in the past, he told the trustees, had gratified his every ambition, and which he left reluctantly to accept the call to Dartmouth six and a half years ago.

WILL REMAIN NEUTRAL.

The soccer team at the University of Michigan is neutral, and intends to remain so until the war is over. Only seven nations are represented on the team, but the players are friends and speak to one another. Canada, China, Greece, Turkey, Armenia and Hawaii have representatives on the team, and in addition to this there is one perfectly good citizen of the United States. Needless to say, signals, and not conversation, is the most popular form of directing the plays.

NEW RECORD NEXT SEASON, TOO.

A University of California student, in a recent medical test, held his breath for ten minutes and ten seconds, thereby establishing what is claimed to be a world's record. Certain baseball magnates dispute this claim on the ground that they did it from the beginning to the end of the 1915 baseball season.

BASKETBALL PLANS BEGUN

Intermediates Team Will be Entered in Provincial League.

NEW SECRETARY ELECTED

Many of the Old Players Are Back Again to Play.

Plans for this season's activities of the Basketball Club were outlined at a meeting of the club held yesterday in the McGill Union. It was decided that as usual an intermediate team be placed in the Provincial League, and a junior team in the City Y.M.C.A. League. The intermediate team will take the place of the senior team of previous years.

S. G. Baldwin, president of the club, occupied the chair. Owing to the fact that Hyndman is not back at college this year, it was necessary to elect a new secretary, and G. H. Upham was named to fill the office.

The prospects for a good team this year are most satisfactory, and several of last year's players will be out. Included among these are the following: Williscroft, H. Ferguson, Pitts, Upham and J. Ferguson. There is considerable new material in sight with which to round out two strong teams.

Ed. Clarke, was elected freshman representative.

The first practice of the club will be held on Wednesday, at the Central Y. M. C. A.

ATHLETICS ADVOCATED.

Dr. C. A. Sargent, of the Sargent Gymnasium, Cambridge, advocated physical training of all the youth of the United States as a better basis upon which to found military preparedness than military training in the schools, in addressing the special committee on militia at the State House in Boston recently. He cited the athletic prowess of the German turners and the British athletes as proof of this, stating that these sources have proved of great value in the present situation abroad.

THE HOLY CARPET.

Paris, France — The Temps Cairo correspondent states that Abdallah Faki Bey has handed over to the representative of the Mecca, chief, at Djeddah, the holy carpet which the Egyptian government sends every year to the temple of Ka'ba. Leaving Suez on Oct. 7 on a khedivial mail steamer, the convoy arrived at Djeddah on Oct. 10. Owing to present circumstances and on the advice of the Egyptian mufi, no pilgrims have gone to Mecca this year, and the holy carpet, which is usually escorted by him, was sent under the care of the emir-el-hage.

THE GAYETY.

The offering at the Gayety this week is "Barney Gerard's" Follies of the day, featuring George P. Murphy, Gertrude Hayes, and Chester Nelson, in "Hot, Hot, or What Does the Public Want?"

The first act consisted of a discussion on what does the public want. George M. Cohan, representing comedy, Oscar Hammerstein, the opera, David Belasco the drama, and Al Reeves the burlesque. Each maintained that his form of entertainment was what the public really wanted. Finally they decided to produce a show, giving a short act demonstrating each form of amusement.

Interspersed with these skits were many good numbers, well rendered by a bevy of dancers, led by the "dancing brickbats," led by Gertrude Hayes.

Among the comedians Chester Nelson as Asthma Pollywog, a rube, and George P. Murphy, as August Faust, a hot-dog man, were the shining lights. Chester Nelson and Miss Hayes gave a well acted burlesque on the famous play, "Three Weeks."

The show closed with a song review featuring many of the popular hits of the day.

AT THE LONDON.

As announced in all of last Saturday's papers, Jackie Saunders was featured in an American drama in three parts at the London, starting yesterday. The production is entitled "A Bolt from the Sky." Besides this, to round out a pleasant and entertaining programme, the favorite, Cleo Madison, is seen in "The Ring of Destiny," a two-act western drama. This programme will be concluded on Wednesday.

While we are on the subject, much may be said regarding Cleo Madison, as she is certainly a busy woman these days. She is directing her own company, playing the principal roles in the production and attending to the business details which accompany the management of a large moving picture company with a thoroughness which has astonished those who thought they "knew" her.

In the first-mentioned feature, the picture tells the story of an unsophisticated young girl, made the dupe of a clique of matrimonial conspirators, and forms the basis of a plot of an interesting, compelling three-act drama.

For Thursday and Friday, "Father and Son," a three-act subject of tremendous appeal and strong romantic interest, accompanied by "Does Advertising Win?" a fast and furious farce comedy, with others, will complete a fine programme, associated with suitable musical accompaniment by Harry Thomas.

THE MAN WHO ASSAILED FRENCH AND KITCHENER.

Arthur Lynch, M.P., who assailed the conduct of the war in the British House of Commons, is an ex-soldier, but the only fighting he has ever engaged in was against the Empire. During the South African war he was known as "Colonel" Arthur Lynch, in command of a so-called Irish Brigade that took up arms with the Boers.

SERBIAN MESSAGE TO FRANCE.

Paris, France.—M. Paul Deschanel, at a recent session, read an address which he had received from the president of the Skupstina, expressing the appreciation of the Serbian Parliament of the manifestation in honor of the Serbian nation which occurred in the French Chamber recently. The chamber particularly applauded a passage in M. Deschanel's reply, in which he said: "The heroism of Serbia is filling France with admiration. Her cause, which is that of justice, is also that of all free peoples."

"JOHNNIE" POE KILLED.

When officials of the British army sent word to the United States that Johnnie Poe, football star and soldier of fortune, was killed while fighting with the Allies on the northern boundary of France, they wrote the last chapter in the story of the most remarkable life ever led by an athlete. Johnnie Poe was the first of a family of great football players to enter Princeton. He was captain of the Tiger team in 1902 and by a great run defeated Yale. Leaving college, he entered a broker's office in New York, but the excitement of Wall Street did not seem to satisfy him, and when the Spanish war broke out in 1898 he enlisted with the college troops and was a hero in the rush up San Juan Hill. Then he enlisted for three years in the United States regular army and went to the Philippines as a lieutenant.

Returning, he tried mining in Alaska, then in Arizona. He became a cowboy in Arizona and was prominent among the bandit chasers. He went to Central America and joined in the big revolution there. Later he joined the rebels in the Nicaragua-Honduras revolution, was taken as a spy and freed on the promise that he would leave the country.

Poe went to Mexico where he took up mining. His mine was raided; he protested, and Mexican officials laughed at him. So he joined the rebels in the Madero revolution and secured the promise of the rebels leaders to protect his mining interests.

He went back in New York when the European war broke out. He hastened to Ireland, the home of his ancestors, the De La Foer family, and was placed in the Royal British Artillery. When the Black Watch, as the Forty-Second Highlanders are known, needed experienced men to handle quick-firing field pieces, he was transferred, and it was while with the Black Watch that he was killed, Sept. 22, when the Allies were making their big drive.

SHAMROCKS DEFEAT MACDONALD COLLEGE

Light Shamrock Team Down
Their Heavier Opponents—
Luck in Evidence.

Shamrocks and Macdonald College wound up the season in the Junior Rugby series Saturday afternoon on the Shamrock grounds, the Shamrocks winning by a score of 8 to 6 after one of the most evenly contested games of the season. The grounds were in a deplorable condition, due to the recent wet weather.

As the game had no bearing on the championship, the Shamrocks trotted out their substitutes to replace the regular players, who, while willing to jump into the game if needed, thought it advisable to test the mettle of the younger members. That they showed up to advantage is demonstrated by their win, particularly as the college boys had a great advantage in weight.

The most ardent Shamrock supporter was willing to admit that the break went against the college team on at least one or two occasions, particularly when Reid made a beautiful kick for a goal which hit the cross bar and bounded into the possession of Connor, the Shamrock left half, who cleared to safety. The score at the commencement of the last quarter was 8 to 1 for the Irishmen, and then the college started out in earnest to pull down the lead. That they almost succeeded is seen by the final score, their weight and strength telling against their much lighter opponents. They bucked the Shamrock line from centre for a touch.

Messrs. Hamilton and Flanagan handled the match in a most satisfactory manner.

THIS PRISONER SEEMS TO WRITE CAREFULLY.

("Canada," London.)

A letter received at Victoria from Pte. Donovan Corker, formerly of the Bank of Vancouver (whose younger brother, Ambrose, of the Imperial Bank, Victoria, has also been reported as missing), is written from the prison camp at Dietesheim. He says:—

"We are doing river improvement work and are extremely satisfied with the work. We only work eleven hours a day and on Saturdays we get a half-holiday, when we only work nine and a half hours. We get better grub than at Gieszen—five meals a day. The first consists of a cup of coffee; the second, a cup of coffee and half a sausage; the third is a bowl of soup, which we greatly enjoy in this hot weather; the fourth is a cup of coffee and a small piece of cheese; and the last is a cup of tea and a bowl of potatoes and half a sausage. We also get a loaf of bread (about 1½ lb.) every five days."

DR. SOLOMON SCHECHTER DEAD

Dr. Schechter was stricken yesterday morning at the Seminary. Although he was approaching his sixty-eighth birthday, which he would have reached on December 7th, he had been in good health recently. He was delivering a lecture when he complained of illness.

MADE HERSELF AT HOME

Charlottetown Girl Keen Upon
Earning a College
Course.

The ordinary course of existence in the common room of the Engineering Building was pleasantly interrupted yesterday afternoon by a fair visitor—or, rather, when we come to think of it, she was dark.

The usual leakage from the draughting rooms had begun to find their way downstairs after the first attendance of the afternoon had been taken, and had just settled themselves for a quiet smoke in the pleasant endeavor to kill a little time, when they were, to put it mildly, somewhat startled by the appearance of a real live—very live—girl in that sanctuary of masculinity. She, however, was not at all startled, but made herself at home in one of the chairs, and soon gathered a little crowd about her. She explained that she was one of several competitors who were trying to earn a college course by securing subscriptions to a periodical. The publishers of this magazine were offering, as a prize, a four-year course in any college in Canada to the candidates who succeeded in securing over a certain large number of new subscribers in ten weeks. She herself hailed from Charlottetown. The Science men immediately began to help forward their visitor's chances, and before the afternoon ended a good many subscriptions had been secured from the more susceptible of the scientists after they had exacted a half-promise that if successful she would choose to attend the R. V. C. and pay an occasional visit to her friends in the Engineering Building.

Germans Promise Them Much at the Re-opening of Warsaw University

Berlin, Nov. 18 (by wireless to Sayville, L.I.).—"At the celebration incident to the re-opening of Warsaw University, General von Bessler, the German Governor-General, in replying to the speech of thanks made by President Brudhinski of the university," says the Overseas News Agency, "urged that the youth of Poland, in accordance with the wish of Emperor William, resume the living of their intellectual life, untroubled by any thoughts of strife, and aspire to the highest achievements of noble humanity."

The semi-official Norddeutsche Allgemeine Zeitung says: "Warsaw University will enjoy entire freedom after the manner of German universities. Classes will be taught in Polish. Under the Russian regime students were compelled to wear uniforms. Poles were almost excluded from the faculty, the Russian language only was used, and students were under police control, being imprisoned if suspected of political misbehavior. Under German control there will be no limitations on account of race or creed."
